

DEPARTURES

— Restaurants —

What to Eat and Drink Around the World This Week

By Leah Koenig on April 12, 2018

The best openings, tasting menus, and launches across the globe.

© Humberto Martinez

The third week of April is filled with barbecue and food and wine fêtes, from Adam Perry Lang's new Hollywood restaurant to a culinary star-studded festival in Scottsdale. Add to that a champagne pop-up bar at the Rainbow Room and a chance to cook like Sinatra in Vegas, and the month really begins to heat up.

Courtesy Lauda Restaurant

Santorini, Greece: Emmanuel Renaut Joins Lauda Restaurant

The three Michelin-starred chef Emmanuel Renaut recently joined the Andronis Boutique Hotel's cliffside restaurant. His new menu, which will debut April 22, is inspired by the Aegean Sea, incorporating locally-caught fish and produce like white eggplants and Santorini tomatoes. Fortunately, the view, which overlooks the sparkling water, remains the same. Oia, Thira 847-02; 30-22/8607-2182; laudarestaurant.com.